

■ HIGH TIDE . . . model maker John Mackender from Burwell, a member of the Puffin Model Club with his steam powered models left to right The River Queen and Solent Cutter. Picture: Keith Heppell 516292

Model boats sail in to museum

MODEL boats were demonstrated in a portable pond set up at the village museum. The Puffin Model Club showed off its steam-powered radio-controlled craft to visitors to Burwell Museum on Sunday. The demonstration was part of an Autumn Miscellany Day at the museum, run by volunteers, which closes for the winter at the end of this month.

Bicycles from the past century were also displayed and ridden around the village. A Fenland eel-trap maker also demonstrated his craft and displayed his punt and gun.